Reopening of COYA Monte-Carlo: the new season of exciting evenings in Monaco has begun

An annual festive rendez-vous for residents of Monaco and a visiting clientèle from all over the world, the Sporting Monte-Carlo has launched its 2019 spring-summer season: after the opening of Jimmy'z Monte-Carlo on 29 March 2019, COYA Monte-Carlo reopened its doors on Thursday 4 April. Flushed with the success of its first season in the Principality in 2018, this year the restaurant with Latin American flavours has returned to offer the mix which made its reputation from London to the Riviera, alongside Miami, Dubai and Abu Dhabi: light and colourful fusion cuisine, a Pisco Bar & Lounge and fast-paced DJ sets, with the added bonus of splendid views over the Mediterranean. It is the perfect place to spend the early part of a fashionable evening before heading to Jimmy'z Monte-Carlo, where the 2019 programme promises to make the entire coastline hum.

Chef Fabrizio Fossati is at the helm of a joyful and creative kitchen.

In an eclectic and electric atmosphere, COYA Monte Carlo offers fusion-inspired cuisine with Peruvian flavours orchestrated in Monaco by Chef Fabrizio Fossati, who previously contributed to the success of COYA Angel Court in London. On the menu are: fresh ceviches and tiraditos with a hint of Asia, spicy tacos made with aioli or wasabi, a new twist on cazuelas (casseroles) and a tasty and colourful selection of fish and meat. Without forgetting a dessert menu that is a deliciously sweet tribute to dulce de leche, chocolate Illanka or purple corn from Peru.

And because the spirit of the Latin American fiesta is not just on the table, COYA Monte-Carlo is also home to the now legendary Pisco Bar & Lounge where guests can enjoy a wide choice of signature cocktails, as well as a collection of rare and refined wines and spirits. A DJ's booth next to the bar is where the COYA Monte-Carlo DJs take up residence throughout the season.
